On September 23, 2008, at 2:00 pm, I called Elkhart Metal Distributing Inc. located on County Road 106, in Elkhart, Indiana. I spoke to Don Butler. Mr. Butler said that he wears many hats and supposed that he would be considered a plant manager. He said that there are 12 people employed at the facility. He stated that the water smells bad (like sulfur or rotten eggs) and that the company brings in bottled water (from Du-More) to drink. He also stated that the employees wash their hands and face with the on site tap water.
